Team Structure

At Focused Labs our teams structures can vary according to client's needs, but we typically have at least a pair of engineers, a designer, and a product manager. Within the engineering team we have a role entitled "Tech Lead" or "Anchor" which is the technical leader for the project.

We have historically offered services with only engineers, or only product as well, but it really depends on the client's needs.